Dear Friends and Colleagues -
Welcome to Munich!

Otoplasty and rhinoplasty, including ear and nose reconstruction, are the most frequent, most variable and most tricky operations in plastic and reconstructive surgery, and even if many principles for these operations have already been developed, there is, however, a constant change in the technical possibilities and also constantly growing expectations concerning the results. So permanent actualization of knowledge and continuous exchange in experiences with active colleagues play an essential role when struggling for success.

Now, for the third time, among the faculty we will be welcoming most distinguished national and international guests who will demonstrate their extraordinary practical expertise during live operations, oral presentations, round table discussions and master dissection course.

This year, we again put a little more emphasis on facial cosmetic surgery, and we included facial rehabilitation procedures, too, according to many requests from last year's participants.

I am very pleased to invite you to participate with the International Conference and Course on Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery of the Ear, the Nose, and the Face in Munich, 2006!
